Overview:

Commonwealth Association of Architects - CAA is pleased to announce the Design Competition for the Robert Matthew Award 2019. The award cycle is 3 years and this year the award is facilitated by the Architects Association of Kenya (AAK).

In 1982 CAA established an Award to commemorate its founder Sir Robert Hogg Matthew (1906-1975). The Trophy recognizes innovative contributions to the development of architecture in the Commonwealth context. The award is to be made to an architectural practice making the most outstanding contribution, having particular relevance to the country or region in which the architect or architectural practice operates.

Eligibility Criteria:

This International Competition invites all architecture students, young architects and young professionals with a degree in architecture studies (≤ 35 years old) to develop and submit compelling idea for the Design of the Trophy. This Competition is open to all students of the Member Organizations of CAA.

Design Requirements:

This trophy represents the life-time work of architects of commonwealth nations in recognition of their academic, cultural, or scientific advances. Hence, the Trophy should reflect the diversity of Commonwealth States and should be suitable to all regions, with no symbols that may relate to any particular country.
